

Christine Cunningham—Technology Chain of Command

When a problem arises with my technology, I try to fix it myself first (not really supposed to do that!). Then, I call up my friend Danny who is our school site technology coordinator/IT guy (he is a math teacher, but receives a stipend for his services). If Danny doesn't know, I go to Patrick, our former school site technology coordinator/IT guy, who is now our VP (he set up all of our computers, etc.). Finally, I can go to our District Technology Facilitator, Rufus, but we aren't REALLY supposed to bother him with anything except for Accelerated Math/Reading and our webpage on the district site! BOTTOM LINE: If it breaks...it goes in the barn!!
